THOMAS THOMPSON'S MILLIONS.

Interesting Facts About the Estates of Two Philauthropists.

STAMPORD, Conn., Aug. 9 .- Dr. Charles E. Rowell, a nephew and physician of the late Mrs. Elizabeth Thompson, widow of Thomas Thompson, the Boston philanthropist, who died in 1809 leaving a fortune of half a million dollars, the income of which at his wife's death was to be devoted to poor seamstresses and working girls, was asked to-day about the announcement printed in THE SUN, that there is likely to be a contest over the will. He said the estate of Thomas Thompson was now estimated at $3,000,000 and the trustee was

William T. Minor, of Boston. This is not the first attempt to break the will. When Mr. Thompson died an attempt was made to have the will set aside, but the case was never tried. Dr. Robell thinks his aunt effected a compromise with the contestants Dr. Rowell says that an appreciation of kindness prompted Mr. Thompson to provide for the poor seamstresses and working girls of Brattleboro and Rhinebeck. One of his eccentricities was never to ride in cars, always traveling in a carriage. In the two towns mentioned he met with accidents, and in return for the assistance and attention shown him on these occasions he endowed the "poo seamstresses" of these places. It was about the time sawing machines were coming into reneral use and many needlewomen were left without employment. Dr. Rowell thinks it was Mr. Thompson's intention to found homes for these women and he says their is no logical reason why the wishes of the testator cannot be put in force, even though thirty years have reasons.

reason why the wishes of the festator cannot be put in force, even though thirty years have passed.

Before the Boston fire Mrs. Thompson hadan annual income of about $75,000. She relinquished a part of this to repair the estate, reducing it to $60,000 a year. She spent the entire sum in traveling, and for what she was led to believe were charitable and worthy purposes until she was stricken with apoplexy. Then Judge H. Stanley Firch of the Stamford Probate Court appointed a conservator of her person and property. After that time she did not live up to her income, and what remained has accumulated until it now amounts to $500,000. This estate is in the charge of Judge N. C. Bowns of this city, the conservator, Mrs. Thompson left a will bequeathing her estate to her sister. Mrs. Moon, but the latter's death preceded Mrs. Thompson's by about a year. Judge F. C. Taylor of the Stamford Probate Court has fixed upon Wednesday, Aug. 10, as the date for a hearing on the appointment of an administrator of the estate. George P. Rowell, of New York, a nephew of Mrs. Thompson's estate will be inherited by three brothers and the children of the three dead brothers. The surviving brothers are James C. and Frederick Rowell, of Littloton, N. H., aged 86 and 74, respectively, and John P. Rowell, of Fonda, N. Y., aged 84.

P. A. O'Farrell, a well-known mining expert, has been visiting Greenwood, B. C. Of the Mother Lode, owned by the British Columbia Copper Company, he writes. "I measured myself 203 feet of solid ore between walls in this mine. It is not a high-grade ore, but it will do to work on a large scale, and some day it will make a fortune for its stockholders. The Mother Lode people are building a smelter, and the railrond is graded to within a mile of the mine, and will be ready to haul ore in nine, and will be ready to haul ore in inety days."

The Melones Mining Company of Califorria, which was a big producer forty years ago, has ordered a 120-stamp mill, and let contracts for 5,000 feet of tunnels. There are now 500,000 tons of ore blocked out, which will average between $3.50 and $4 The new tunnel will add 230,000 to the reserves. A ten-ton cyanide plant has been installed to determine the practi-cability of dispensing with concentration and treating the pulp as it comes from the plates by the cyanide process. Arrested for a Burglar After a Liveller Night Than He Ever Had in the Hub. John Stoddard, a Bostonian who came to this city to work on the Marcy avenue trolley line in Brooklyn at the time of the strike, went out to see the Bowery on Tuesday night after receiving his first pay from the railroad company. He had a good time till be reached a saloon near Spring street, from which he was put out for making a noise. In transit from the bar to the street he was pretty badly beaten, but his troubles were not over. Bome former employees of the trolley company quickly recognized him and they yelled in con-

"Scab! Chase him! Do him!" Stoddard, thoroughly cowed, started up the Bowery at a run. An all-night restaurant at No. 170 seemed to offer a safe refuge and he dashed in. "Hide me! They're going to kill me!" he shouted and a waiter taking pity on him hustled him into a room in the rear. But Stoddard didn't think he was safe so he amashed a window, crawled into the back yard and scalled the mearest fence. He landed on a table covered with tin-ware and a moment later all the tenants in the neighboring houses were at the windows, shouting "Police! Burglars!" News that the entire block was overrun by burglars reached the Mulberry street police station a few minutes later and the reserves were turned out and sent to surround the houses. A careful search resulted in the discovery of Stoddard hiding behind a pile of lumber. He told his story, but the policeman didnt believe him and haled him to the station. There he told it again and the waiter from the restaurant confirmed it. Sergeant Strope let him go. A suit of clothes had to be found for him in the police station to replace the wreck of his uniform

THE MAYOS MAY JOIN THE YAQUIS. Authorities at Chihushus Unessy at Sign of Rebellion in the Tribe.

CHIHUAHUA, Mexico, Aug. 9.—There is much uneasiness in military circles here over the attitude of the Mayo tribe of Indians in the State of Sonora, towards the Mexican authorities since the uprising of the Yaqui braves. The fighting force of the Mayo tribe is much less than that of the Yaquis, and they have for many years been at peace with the Government, but the younger braves of the tribe are now aroused over the warfare that is waging to the west of them and an open revolt is threatened.

The Mayos have long been friends of the Yaquis, but have held aloof from them in their revious wars. The Government waged a long and relentless war against the Mayos, and when the treaty of peace was finally signed their numbers had been reduced to a few thousand. The Mayos are almost white and are of a higher order of intelligence than the Yaquis. Some of them are wealthy. The Yaquis have had emissaries among the Mayos for several months inciting rebellion against the Government

Bender was held under $2,000 ball by Coroner Fitspatrick restorday, pending the inquest.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

WEDNESDAY, Aug. 9 The stock market was notably strong today, and the business was well distributed. There was more ease in call money, and this was something calculated to help the speculative situation. All the news of the day, too, was favorable, and included the earnings of the St. Paul Ros4 for the first week of August, which were $762,298, an increase of $187,539 over the same period last year. It was taken for granted that the Bank of England would raise its discount rate to 4 per cent. to morrow, which was interpreted to mean that the Bank real-ized that it was in danger of losing gold to the United States.

The tobacco stocks again were leading features of the market. The trading and the advance was larger in American Tobacco than in Continental. Much of the buying was by insiders. There were heavy dealings in Sugar Refining, with a small advance in the price. The company is said to be doing the largest business in its hisry. A considerable demand sprang up the United States Leather issues. So as could be learned no steps have yet en taken toward providing for the back dividends on the preferred stock. There was a sharp advance in American Linseed preferred on the declaration of the regular quarterly dividend. The Linseed issues are comparatively new to this market. The are comparatively new to this market. The company reports handsome earnings, and as its affairs are in competent hands, its securities are likely to receive adequate attention. At the price at which it is selling the preferred stock appears cheap. The absorption of Atchiaon preferred continued and carried the stock higher. The Granger stocks were strong.
